THE CHOICE OF A SULPHONAMIDE

For the treatment of bacterial infections the sulphonamide preferred is one of high antibacterial activity, by means of which therapeutic blood levels can be rapidly achieved and easily maintained, with minimal toxic manifestations.

These desiderata are to be found in 'Sulphamezathine', a new sulphonamide which many authorities consider to be the drug of choice for use in pneumonia, meningitis, haemolytic streptococcal infections and Bact. coli infections of the urinary tract.

Highly efficient therapeutically, 'Sulphamezathine' is well tolerated and has little tendency to produce unpleasant effects such as nausea, vomiting or cyanosis. By reason of its ready solubility, renal complications are rarely encountered—a decided advantage over many sulphonamides.

Powder: Containers of 25 grammes, 100 grammes and 500 grammes.

Tablets: 0.5 gramme: Containers of 25, 100 and 500.

*Ampoules: 1 gramme (in 3 c.c.): boxes of 6 and 25.

'PALUDRINE'

A Potent Antimalarial

The results available from extensive clinical investigations which are proceeding with 'Paludrine' both in this country and in malarious regions abroad show that this new drug is a highly efficient antimalarial with definite advantages over mepacrine and quinine.

- 'Paludrine' controls the clinical symptoms of all forms of malaria and terminates the attack.
- It is a true causal prophylactic in malignant tertian malaria, and a partial causal prophylactic in benign tertian malaria.
- It produces a radical cure in malignant tertian malaria. In benign tertian malaria, following treatment of the acute attack, relapses may be controlled indefinitely by the administration of one tablet (0.1 gramme) once a week.
- It is extremely well tolerated and in normal dosage it does not produce unpleasant symptoms of any kind. Furthermore, it is colourless, and there are no aesthetic drawbacks to its use.

Literature supplied on request.

To soothe and smooth harsh dry hands

More than most people, a doctor must be fastidious about his hands. Yet frequent contact with water and antiseptic solutions tends to rob the skin of its natural nourishing and lubricating elements. The regular use of Nivea helps to keep the skin in good condition. Nivea Creme possesses two unusual qualities. It is an emulsion of water suspended in oil; and it contains "Eucerite," a mixture of solid alcohols very closely related chemically to the fatty substances present in skin secretions. Nivea is therefore able to penetrate to the tissues beneath the surface and replenish any deficiency of the skin's natural oils.

- Keeps the skin smooth and soft.
- Soothes after shaving.
- Relieves sun and wind burn.
- Heals chapped hands.
- Prevents babies' napkin rash.
- Relieves and heals bed sores.

'Pronutrin'—an enzymic digest of casein—is a natural antacid and a rich source of nutriment. The casein is broken down into smaller units of amino acids and the simpler polypeptides. The amino acids are amphoteric and therefore act as buffering agents against stomach acidity. Thus 'Pronutrin' is a useful preparation in the treatment of peptic ulcer, allaying the feeling of hunger and, because of its buffering action, relieving the pain. X-ray tests in a series of refractory ulcers have shown evidence of healing after oral amino acid feeding. In peptic ulcer and in all cases where digestion of ordinary protein is impaired, 'Pronutrin' provides the nitrogenous food needed for tissue repair. 'Pronutrin' is soluble in water. It may be given in hot, cold or iced water, either alone or combined with meat extract ; or stirred into milk or soups. A booklet giving fuller details of 'Pronutrin' will gladly be sent on request.

One successful method of infant feeding alone can compete (in antiquity) with the Sphinx. Doubtless, when the latter at last succumbs to Time, breast feeding will still remain the unchallenged method of laying the foundation of health and vigour. For more than 40 years Cow & Gate Milk Food has provided a reliable and effective substitute when breast feeding proves impossible. It can therefore claim to have been "Tested by Time" even though this is measured in years rather than in centuries. During this period the application of increased knowledge of infant requirements and of process refinements has been continuous. The two standard foods in the Cow & Gate range are as follows:—

FULL CREAM

This food is found to be of suitable composition for the great majority of normal infants. It conforms approximately to the fat content of average breast milk. It is prepared from finest quality milk powder produced under carefully controlled conditions to ensure closest possible uniformity of quality. It contains 320 i.u. vitamin D per oz. and 1 m.g. of iron per oz.

HALF CREAM

When foods other than breast milk are first introduced, some children require a reduced fat intake. In a smaller number of cases it is advisable to continue with the lower fat content for several months. The half cream food, which contains the same vitamin and iron supplements as the full cream variety, has this reduction of fat and addition of carbohydrates in the form of milk sugar.

Particulars of these and other Cow & Gate preparations for specialised infant feeding, will be gladly forwarded on request.

Ribena therapy in infant welfare

The administration of vitamin C to infants has become a routine feature in child welfare. During the war, scarcity of orange juice was counter-balanced with excellent results by the use of other sources of the vitamin natural to Britain, notably blackcurrant juice, which the Ministry of Food approved as a particularly satisfactory alternative.

It is noteworthy that Ribena can be employed with advantage as a means of supplying natural vitamin C to infants from as early as the fourth week onwards; being quite free from cellular material it cannot upset the most delicate digestion.

During the growing period generally, the vitamin C requirement is known to be much higher comparatively than during adult life, so that an accessory supply, as provided by 'Ribena,' is obviously of great benefit to children.

Ribena is standardised at not less than 20 mg. ascorbic acid per fl. oz.
